1 of 1 review helpful GOLDEN WALLFLOWERS AND DOUBLOONS By THUMBTOM Bill Borrows dusts off the basic green fabric of this enthralling disaster with delightful flourishes from his own imagination Because the book was written before Alex Higgins died in July 2010 when his subject is described looking round the referee like an old woman craning her neck round the side of a bus shelter or hitting the balls with the cold hea Born on a council estate in Belfast Alex Higgins left school at 15 At 17 he won the Northern Ireland and All Ireland snooker championships and turned professional when he was 20 In 1972 aged just 23 he became the youngest person ever to win the World Championship He repeated this achievement in an emotional final 10 years later in the process becoming the biggest box office draw the game has ever known Alex Higgins was a showman gambler comedian bully charme I had more fun with Alex than any other player He was a nightmare because you always knew you d have to lend him money when he played for you and as soon as he d done that lot at the bookies he d be back for more But he put bums on seats and was great
